Whilst all reasonable efforts have been made to maximise the accuracy of TCP Accelerator, users are advised that accuracy may be affected by a variety of conditions, including conditions which are outside the control of Inmarsat. The user should not rely on the data volumes available on the user terminal for billing purposes as it is possible it may under record due to network optimisation and enhancement techniques contained in the TCP-Accelerator. To obtain accurate information on billable data volumes, your distributor partner or service provider should be contacted. This TCP-Accelerator is provided “as is” and use is at one’s own risk.
